Principal's Message

May is Asian Pacific American Month. The month of May was introduced for Asian Pacific American Month in 1992 by Congressman Frank Horton. Mr. Horton's chief of staff, Jeanie Jew had a very personal reason for nominating an Asian Pacific American Month. Her grandfather was one of the 20,000 Chinese who came to the U.S. to help build the Transcontinental Railroad. These Chinese helped shape American geography and history yet received no recognition. Finally, in 1992, President Bush signed into law proclaiming May to be Asian Pacific American Month. May was selected because the Transcontinental Railroad was completed on May 10th, 1869. From the moment Asian Pacific American Month was created, Asians are recognized as part of the diverse population in the U.S.
